

#IPMResponds in Unprecedented Times

~ as of May 10, 2021 ~

As we commemorate IPM's 47th anniversary and reflect on the extraordinary events and unprecedented challenges faced by IPM and our global community this past year, it is with our deepest gratitude that we wish to acknowledge the vital impact your friendship, support, and consistent generosity has helped make possible in our work and direct response to the still resurging COVID-19 pandemic and other tumult.

Unlike virtually anything IPM has ever experienced, the pandemic produced unimaginable challenges for our Project Partners, Regional Offices & Fellows, and Immersion Experience Programs. But throughout these challenges, we were constantly amazed by the outpouring of global solidarity and generosity of our donors.

Today, as much of the USA and Europe seem to be emerging from the worst moments of the pandemic, it continues to be an especially difficult time for many of our Partners and Staff around the world where the pandemic is having a renewed and even more virulent impact overwhelming their capacity and communities.

We are humbled to highlight below, the inspiring work and response of just a few select IPM Project Partners during this first quarter of 2021 who continue to selflessly dedicate themselves (often at great personal risk) to provide emergency relief and life-sustaining assistance, particularly during this second phase of the pandemic where the real pandemic is inequality in health education and access.

In each case listed below (and many others not highlighted herein), IPM continues to provide emotional, financial, material, personal and/or professional support during this ongoing crisis. Please consider making a gift to our special $100,000 Matching Gift Challenge to multiply our unrestricted resources and ensure our Project Partners receive the support that their tireless efforts require.

Together with your support, IPM continues to serve as a sign of hope as we live out our mission of accompaniment, solidarity, and trust ... working across borders of caste, culture, faith, and economic circumstance to bring about lasting change. Thank you!

IPM PROJECT PARTNERS DEMONSTRATE UNPARALLELED RESILIENCE AND SOLIDARITY

- ACACCPAMU, Armenia, EL SALVADOR: IPM Regional Staff guided the Cooperative's leadership in culturally sensitive conflict resolution related to community access of ACACCPAMU's longstanding water project that local politicians are attempting to co-opt for their own benefit. IPM also provided a $1,000 donation and continue to support the Cooperative in exploring solar panels to reduce related electricity costs.
- ACOMUJERZA, Zaragoza, EL SALVADOR: IPM Regional Staff were grateful to have their first in-person meeting with the Cooperative in March and assisted with their annual planning to promote the commercialization of their products. Since then, IPM has also made a $1,000 donation for the Cooperative to use according to their needs and provided a practical workshop on seeking funds from national and international organizations with the hope of securing a cooperative-owned facility.
- Centro de Formación para la Paz, Ibague, COLOMBIA With IPM support, CFP has expanded its beneficiary population in 2020 as they work alongside a new community called La Vereda. Through the able coordination of Martha Cecilia Arroyave, their work has extended to 44 children and more than 20 women in that location focusing on educational support for home-bound children and forming a new women's collective where they plan activities to focus on the empowerment of each woman. During the resurging pandemic, their activities have been related to food sovereignty, family gardens, education, self-care, and entrepreneurship.

UNITED IN SOLIDARITY

With IPM support, children from Niños Trabajadores in Ibague, COLOMBIA received 100 school kits to stimulate their learning and family time at home during the country's imposed lockdown and current third wave of the COVID-19 pandemic.

With IPM support following the devastating challenges caused by COVID-19, members of the Dandora Women's Forum in KENYA look forward to their 2021 initiatives focusing on: Handcrafting; Microfinance; Trainings on Entrepreneurship, Health Awareness, Early Pregnancy and Drugs in Youth; and their Feeding Program for the community's 300 Orphans and Vulnerable Children.

IPM Project Coordinator Noorsuba Shaikh of HUM (Hindus United with Muslims) in Ahmedabad, INDIA works with her team to conduct preventive health checks to assist in directing high risk individuals to hospitals and health care centers providing the much needed interface for daily wage workers who can't miss any work in these difficult times.

A total of 290 students and 66 vocational trainees were welcomed back to IPM Project Partner Watoto Wa Lwanga, Nairobi, KENYA in March, 2021. Primary school students continue to study for their national exams and two new vocational courses on welding and plumbing have been added.

IPM works across borders of culture, faith, and economic circumstance with children, women, and youth to nurture partnerships that build justice, peace, & hope through transformational learning opportunities and programs.

- CEPROSI, Nindiri, NICARAGUA: As the recipient of a new $7,000 micro-loan from IPM in February, the women are focusing their 2021 activities to support reactivation of their microenterprise initiatives and strengthen their programs.
- HUM (Hindus United with Muslims), Ahmedabad, INDIA: In addition to the cooperative's transition to mask-making for their community, IPM Project Coordinator Noorsuba Shaikh and her team conduct preventive health checks to assist in directing high risk individuals to hospitals and health care centers providing the much needed interface for daily wage workers who can't miss any work in these difficult times. With IPM support for rent, teachers salaries and four sewing machines they have also been conducting classes following all COVID protocols and are now seeking resources for starting two new centers.
- IDES, Zacatecoluca, EL SALVADOR: Builds bridges with other organizations that are able to provide support to our Partners. Because of strategic alliances, IDES received IPM funding support of $2,000 to repair some of the infrastructure which will ultimately benefit more than 16 communities not only through their after-school program for children and community library, but also by serving as a shelter (with a capacity for more than 1,000) in case of weather emergencies.
- Kandula Community Project, Mbooni, KENYA: In the midst of COVID-19 which closed schools and severely hampered work in this rural village, the local population was especially grateful for the continued accessibility of treated ground water made possible by IPM's infrastructure investment within the community and additional funding to finalize the building of the school's eight classrooms, latrines, and related facilities. Approximately 420 youth and 40 nursery school children are currently attending classes. In addition, 23 mothers are participating in the women's groups focused on microenterprise streams through basket weaving and small scale farming for food and coffee as a cash crop.
- Pochabhai Foundation, Golana, INDIA: As a member based organization working in more than 27 villages, with over 3,000 women and 7,000 children, the demands on IPM South Asia Regional Fellow Himat Chauhan and new India Fellow Bindiya Makwana, have been tremendous. Their activities span from mobilizing women and accessing government services to providing education to ostracized Dalit children and a space for them to learn and play. With IPM support, the Pochabhai staff supported more than 4,368 families in the past quarter, accessing more than $32,000 in food and relief supplies. During this devastating second wave of the pandemic, Himat and his team work tirelessly to conduct awareness campaigns and health check-ups while also providing much needed human contact to the aged, the needy, and the sick and frightened.

"After a year of sickness, loss, discrimination, and injustice, our Project Partners, through their work taught us solidarity is greater than any disaster. From Latin America, to Africa, all the way to South Asia, communities worked together for and with the most vulnerable. Alleviating hunger, disease and suffering. Today, with the pandemic not being over, we must continue learning from them, and let us absorb empathy to demand and work for justice and peace in every corner of the world."

TRANSFORMATIVE TRAVEL FROM HOME!

Participants during IPM's new Virtual Immersion Experience (VIEP) in India, March 2021

In September 2020, IPM was thrilled to debut a brand new Virtual Immersion Experience Program (VIEP) created to supplement and enhance our existing in-person programming that the pandemic has currently placed on hold.

IPM VIEPs allow participants to choose between a Global or a One-Country Immersion. A Global VIEP is structured around an internationally relevant theme, such as Children's & Youth's Rights, Environmental Justice, Ethnic & Racial Justice, Gender Equity & Human Rights for Women & Girls, and Migration & Refugees. With a One-Country VIEP you will dive deep into the lives and work of IPM's Project Partners in one of eleven countries.

To-date, IPM has conducted five VIEPs to the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, India, and Nepal, with our first Global VIEP scheduled for later this month on the thematic topic of Caste (Colonialism, Colorism, Racism, Tribalism...), alongside John Carroll University (OH).

This new, virtual format provides wonderful new possibilities for learning & personal transformation. Just as with our signature Immersion Experience Program, IPM offers VIEPs to build cross-cultural relationships so that participants can gain a greater understanding of the global realities of poverty and injustice. Through this experience they are challenged with a new vision of society grounded in justice and love.
